

Reaching Out in Mind Body & Spirit

A conference for Christians ministering within the New Spiritualities:
Friday 20 to Sunday 22 April 2012

Hosted by Steve Hollinghurst from The Sheffield Centre, Church Army's research unit

About the conference

Over the past few years many Christians from a wide range of denominations and styles of spirituality have been developing ways to relate their faith to the growing numbers exploring the New Spiritualities. This has led to regular ministries at rock festivals, health & fitness centres and MBS fairs; life coaching, card reading and spiritual art; meditation, creation liturgy and healing prayer; and much more. This conference is a place for those engaged in the whole range of these to come together, learn from each other and most of all explore how we can move further towards the establishing of Christian communities that can sustain the faith journeys of today's spiritual travellers.

This conference follows on from the one in April 2009 which was the first of its kind in the UK. This time one focus of the conference will be to listen to the stories of different ministries up and down the country and catch up with some of the things that have been happening in the last three years.

Conference programme

Will run from dinner on Friday till after lunch on Sunday at the Wilson Carlile Centre in Sheffield. There will be a mixture of plenary sessions and open space format to enable those attending to explore subjects of their choice and to offer workshops that draw on the skills they bring. In addition to this there will be a market place in which people can display the tools they have developed for use in their ministries.

Cost and Accommodation

The cost for the conference is £65 per person, all meals included. There are 30 en-suite flats (10 are double beds) available on site at £25 per person on a first come, first served basis, with a reduction for couples sharing in the 10 double rooms. but otherwise we recommend booking at a local hotel.
